I have been much surprised to discover that some women do not realize the importance of style shows. I can tell you, I am missing my Paris fashion tour... Every three months or so I used to receive engraved invitations, and I used all of them - even though I knew I couldn't afford to pay two to three hundred dollars for a dress or suit.

Oh, I know some of you might think that "magazines give the trend of the season as well as a show." Well, not quite. Have you not sometimes wondered, while looking at a picture in a magazine, how this dress or that suit would look on you? Or, maybe you feel the same way I do when I try on a new garment: I wish to see it on somebody else. At a fashion show the dress or the suit will "BEHAVE" (French expression which means that you can study the way a material, a cut or a bias looks and... well, behaves on a live model.) The behavior of a dress or suit is something you have to be very careful about.

Honey colored "Bakou" straw.
-- Simone Cange, Paris.

Now, let's speak about hats. In these coming months the "boater" will become one of the favorite hats; along with the "auvent" and the "decale." You can wear them squarely on the head, or tilted sharply forward. They have round or square crowns, flat or shaped brims, and are made of straw or gros-grain. Horsehair hats are the big "hit" of the season. Favorite colors are: honey, "violet de Parme," red, Navy blue and all the shades of yellow.

TO SHOW "DAVID COPPERFIELD"

There will be a public showing of the film "David Copperfield" on Thursday evening, March 9, at 8 p.m., in Sunset cafeteria. This is under the adult educational program of Charles Dawson in connection with the drama workshop, which is directed by Forest Barnes.

Carmel has a flavor, and to use a cliché, it is "to each his own". The artists claim our magnificent sunsets, our jagged wind-worn rocks and beautiful wind-blown trees... The traveler, our balmy sun-kissed beaches, the unhurried tempo of our town... But the traveler who has come, stayed or who plans to return, secretly claims it all for his very own...

KIP'S FOOD CENTER, renowned on the peninsula for its excellent service and hospitality, is located on Ocean and San Carlos, Carmel. The meat department features Saturday specials that shouldn't be overlooked; also you will find well aged, tender meats in large variety, as well as cold-cuts and cheeses. KIP'S shelves are loaded to the brim with delectables to inspire your weekly menus. For your convenience KIP'S is open every day, including Sundays and holidays, 7:30 a.m. to 9 p.m. Delivery in Carmel and Pebble Beach. Dial 7-3821 or go down and shop in the store where your purse is considered kindly without sacrifice of quality goods. You will find KIP'S hours a great boon when last-minute items are needed or unexpected company arrives. A medal should be presented to the vegetable department for its assortment of fresh vegetables, cleanly and neatly displayed...

A cottage or apartment, equipped with every convenience for housekeeping... with super beds... chairs that invite lounging after sightseeing and before evening fun... and, so important, Carmel color and atmosphere. The MONTE VERDE, on Monte Verde Street, a step off Ocean Avenue and two minutes from the beach, will welcome you. For two or for the family, the apartments are delightful, quiet and spotlessly clean. There are also non-housekeeping rooms available...

Last week I said the school bond elections were tainted with illegality because voting continued after 7 p.m. I am informed by School Superintendent Stuart Mitchell that there is no law which states voting cannot continue after that time; also, for the benefit of a few people who thought voters are supposed to be notified of elections by post card, it ain't true. It is discretionary and certainly not necessary when we all vote in one place. Herewith, my apologies to those who conducted the elections, and please pass me a drumstick . . . crow, that is.

PG&E LISTS KITE FLYING "DON'TS"

Kite season comes with the prevailing breezes of Spring, bringing the urge to thousands of boys and girls to make and fly kites. It also brings an annual warning from Pacific Gas and Electric Company to both parents and children that kites falling into power lines can cause possible fatal injuries and serious property damage. The hazards of kite flying also apply to flying model airplanes.

PG & E's code for safe kite flying follows:

1. DON'T fly a kite near electric or trolley wires.
2. DON'T climb a pole to untangle a kite.
3. DON'T let a kite go over radio or television aerials.
4. DON'T build or buy a kite with metal or wire in the frame or tail.
5. DON'T use tinsel string, wire, or any kind of twine that has a metallic substance. Use plain cotton or linen cord.
6. DON'T run across streets or highways while flying kites.
7. DON'T touch fallen electric wires. Report them immediately to PG & E.
8. DON'T fly a kite when it is raining. A wet string is a conductor of electricity.

FIVE IN RACE FOR CARMEL COUNCIL SEATS

Thursday noon last was the deadline for persons who wished to file their candidacy in the coming election for two seats on the Carmel City Council. By Wednesday night, only one man, Donald Craig, incumbent, had made known his intention to run for office again. However, political know-it-alls in Carmel expected plenty of people to file at the last minute, and, in this, they were absolutely correct.

Four Carmelites - three men and a woman - got in their applications with City Clerk Peter Mawdsley at the official time of 9 a.m. on Thursday. They are Leonard R. Carey, owner of the Carmel Laundry; Commander John S. Chitwood, retired Naval officer; Mrs. Glenn Clairmonte, writer and teacher, and Frederick Farr, attorney. They will be fighting to acquire the chairs of Mr. Craig, currently fire and water commissioner, and of Fred Godwin, mayor, who has announced that he will not run for office this April.

With the knowledge that the election will be held Tuesday, April 11, Mr. Mawdsley sent the ballot to be printed last Thursday. It will include the much debated "advisory question" concerning Carmel guest houses.

As noted previously, the question reads: "Is it your wish that the zoning ordinance should be amended to permit the establishment or maintenance of commercial guest houses, housing more than four paying guests in the present residential zone?"

Although the date for filing candidacy is now closed, Mr. Mawdsley points out that space is left on the ballot for "write-in candidates."

When the election is over, the five councilmen will select the mayor from their group. The mayor, in turn, appoints or reappoints the other four councilmen to their respective commission positions.

EXPLANATION NEEDED ON ADVISORY QUESTION

A careful study of the advisory question which is to go on the April ballot in the Carmel elections will reveal that there has been more than a little clouded thinking as to its meaning. Since its adoption by the City Council, guest house operators and others have stated that the question is "loaded," that it allows only one possible answer from the Carmel voters.

No one wants to see the Carmel residential section thrown wide open to commercialism, many people have said. They ask: "What else can a conscientious voter do, but answer 'no'?"

It might be wise for those people to re-read the question. Here it is:

"Is it your wish that the zoning ordinance should be amended to permit the establishment or maintenance of commercial guest houses, housing more than four paying guests in the present residential zone?"

If the question has any fault, it is that it has not been explained. Councilmen say they worked a long time trying to find the correct wording. They have announced their interest in getting some idea as to how people feel about establishment of guest houses, housing more than four paying guests in the present residential zone. The percentage of "yes" and "noes" will give them a working idea of the people's wishes. A "yes" vote would not mean the end of Carmel as a "community of homes."

A "yes" vote, if heavy enough, percentagewise, would mean that the City Council will seek a way to allow guest houses, "housing more than four paying guests in the residential zone." Whether this would be accomplished with a "twilight zone" around the business section or by spot zoning is not the question now put before the voters.

The voter is asked to state whether or not he feels something of this nature should be done.

The SPECTATOR offers this explanation after talking to city officials, but does not feel it is up to the press to do the explaining.

We suggest that the advisory question be brought up for discussion at a Carmel Town Meeting, held prior to the elections. If the voters do not understand the question (which is apparently the case), then they should have it explained to them by the proper authorities. In this instance, some representative of the Carmel City Council should do the talking.

We cannot expect an intelligent vote from residents who aren't thinking clearly.

Letter:

Editor, The SPECTATOR
Carmel, California

Dear Sir:

We appreciate the editorial in your March 2 paper about the purchase of the Carmel River Beach. Both the editorial and the article were gratifying. With the aid of such publicity constantly reminding the community of the importance of this acquisition and the importance of each individual donation towards the cause - we should reach our goal before long.

It will be of great help to us if you can continue to speak of this community responsibility. I'm enclosing a letter to us from Newton Drury, director of National Parks in Washington. It should be of interest to your readers that the chief of the National Parks is keenly concerned with the preservation of this beach area and that he states, "There are no finer seacoast areas anywhere!"

Thanking you for your cooperation!

Very truly,

MARGARET MILLARD

My dear Mrs. Millard,
All success to the League in its campaign to preserve the beaches and the scenic ocean shore in the region of Carmel and Point Lobos. There are no finer seacoast areas anywhere, and they are most worthy of being preserved

More U. S. Breaks With Balkan Satellites Ahead?

Red Restrictions Hampering
U. S. Missions' Functions

SPECIAL TO THE SPECTATOR

WASHINGTON—The diplomatic break between this country and Bulgaria is regarded as only the first in a series of steps which the United States plans against the tightly-held Soviet Balkan satellites.

One by one, the United States is expected to ask the Balkan missions in Washington to go home while the American diplomats in those states will be pulled out a la Bulgaria.

The reason is simple enough. The Communists have clamped such tight restrictions on diplomatic activity in the satellite countries that it is impossible for the United States missions to function.

Since there is no other excuse for them to be in the Red-dominated nations, this valuable personnel might as well be withdrawn from the danger of trumped-up charges, mock trials and very real sentences imposed by Red courts.

The breach with Bulgaria, therefore, is looked upon as only the beginning.

● UNEASY BALANCE—State department officials are not concerned about the results of the British elections in themselves, but privately they are afraid of the effect they may have on future joint foreign policy.

Washington

The picture is further confused by the narrow margin on which the present French government clings to power. Both European nations in the Big Three are intangibles in world politics.

The small advantage held by the Laborites in Britain may well force a general election in the near future—a disturbing factor in any policies the Attlee government may initiate.

Particularly important as between the United States and Britain are American demands for a more closely integrated European economy, in which the British have been hold-outs.

Also, a new dollar shortage crisis is almost certain to develop in Britain before summer. The weak control the Laborites have is likely to make them timid about taking the strong and unpopular economic steps they feel are essential if Britain ever is to take its place again as a major power in world trade.

● TRITIUM FOR HYDROGEN BOMB—Some scientists feel that the simple hydrogen atom cannot be harnessed effectively to explode the H-bomb. If such should prove to be the case, it is quite possible that tritium, a heavier hydrogen atom, would be used.

Use of tritium, however, would complicate the process because it would have to be fabricated by bombarding lithium with neutrons.

The Atomic Energy Commission, in its recent semi-annual report, discussed laboratory experiments in which tritium, sometimes called Hydrogen Three, turned into Helium Three by emitting a Beta particle.

It is through conversion of hydrogen into helium that the tremendous energy release is obtained which would cause the most devastating blast and heat in mankind's history.

● HORSES, HORSES—Look for a rekindling of Uncle Sam's interest in the military horse. Recent maneuvers in the savage Alaskan winter demonstrated that a fully mechanized army is inefficient under Arctic conditions.

When more than 50 per cent of the "weasels"—the Army's No. 1 "snowmobile"—were knocked out by sub-zero temperatures, observers started looking backward—toward the horse.

The attitude reached as far up as the high brass. Defense officials now suggest that it may be time to return horses and mules to military status.

Army records prove that draft animals function more efficiently in severe weather than either men or machines.

An informal survey already is going on to determine what can be done about filling the ironic need for equines in this era of jet planes and atomic bombs.

The Russians, incidentally, have never relegated the horse to the background. Should there ever be a Soviet invasion of Alaska, United States military experts are certain that thousands of horses would figure in it.

Coleman Opposes New PG Ordinance

City Councilman Pat Coleman opposed passage of Pacific Grove's new planning ordinance, brought before the City Council last week after long delay.

Coleman had several objections to the ordinance. One lay in the preamble, which contains an implication that the character of Pacific Grove is primarily residential, and therefore, business should be secondary. Other council members disagreed with the implication. In another section, Coleman pointed out that the new law set out specifically those things which were allowed, and disallowed all others. He termed this "diametrically opposed to the principles on which this country was founded."

Coleman's was the only dissenting vote. However, another councilman hesitated before voting "yes," then explained why. Roger Mathews said he had felt that businessmen deserved more consideration on overhanging signs, curbed by the new zoning regulation.

Mathews said he would change his original exception, since no businessman had commented on the situation to him, and no businessman had appeared before the council recently to protest.

A proposal to put the Forest Hill Hotel from C-1 back to R-3, in other words from commercial to multiple-dwelling residential, was defeated. The hotel was spot-zoned two years ago, but so far, has not made use of the classification.

Attorney Reginald Foster warned the council the matter would need careful action to avoid possible law suits.

The decision to leave the area in C-1 was unanimous.

Pacific Grove's ordinance probably will become effective shortly. It was classified as "Urgent and necessary for the public health, welfare, and safety."

FOSTER LIKES MONTEREY'S TRAFFIC LAW

Newton S. Foster, chairman of the mayor's traffic committee of Pacific Grove, made his report to the City Council last week. He revealed that committee member Robert Getts had been unable to attend meetings, but that he and James Rye had agreed after consultation that Pacific Grove could use a traffic ordinance like Monterey's.

"It's the opinion of two people," he declared, "that Monterey's ordinance is just as good as any."

Monterey has banned almost all diagonal parking and has installed parking meters. Long an advocate of the meters, Foster apparently favors doing away with diagonal parking in Pacific Grove also.

Mayor Chapman appointed the Rev. Harris Pillsbury and Councilman Roger Mathews to the traffic committee. Mathews, after first declining on the ground, "The Mayor originally felt new blood might be better on the committee," finally, under pressure, agreed to serve.

Councilwoman Elmarie Dyke suggested Fire Commissioner Harold Wildman be named to the committee, but the suggestion was brushed aside by Mayor Chapman.

POULENC & BERNAC CONCERT Draws Mixed Reaction

By Henry Dunakin

The Carmel Music Society presented Francis Poulenc, pianist-composer, and Pierre Bernac, baritone, in a joint recital on Tuesday evening, Feb. 28, in Sunset Auditorium. There is hardly any doubt but that this proved to be one of the most controversial subjects to run through local musical channels of conversation in quite some time. There are two factions definitely opposed in their reactions to these artists: (1) Many of the audience feel that they had a rather rarefied journey into some sort of mystical land of song; while, (2) many others feel that they sat through a performance of many fine songs that were somewhat inadequately rendered. To no small extent, the writer belongs to the latter grouping.

The program was beautifully chosen, with three songs of the mid-baroque English repertory serving as a prelude. I was immediately involved with a warm admiration for our singer's handling of the language, and simultaneously, I wondered why he was classified as a baritone. His voice seemed just a little high, but that could have been the music he had chosen. Next, we were given Schumann's "Dichterliebe," a lieder cycle well known to all lovers of that medium. Perhaps here Mr. Bernac's interpretation was not too bad; but it does seem a shame that most Frenchmen have to tackle the German tongue. The vertical qualities of German lose greatly when they are rounded off à la Française, as was here the case. The music itself should have been sufficient, without the acting which Mr. Bernac gave. True, this cycle is highly romantic, but it comes off better when given a clean performance -- as any number of concert singers throughout the country do. The four Debussy songs proved that this was our artist's forte. From here on, there was a smoothness that brought the program to life. Five of Poulenc's songs were done with a sympathy that could only come from careful study plus a natural feeling. However, the high of the evening came with the Ravel "Hebraic Chants"... especially the Kaddish. Mr. Bernac gave them a cantor-like interpretation that lingers well in reflection.

By request, Mr. Poulenc played five of his own compositions for piano. These were only tid-bits, but they sufficed to show his merits as a composer. As a joint recitalist, it is felt that Mr. Poulenc did not equally share in that artistry so necessary for proper art song...

Truman's Friend Says "He's Fit"

By Robert Wray

If Harry S. Truman does not become a candidate to succeed himself in the White House in 1952 it will not be because of any physical defects, but because he would rather retire to a life of ease in his little home town of Independence, Mo., than be president of the United States. If you know Harry Truman you know he would rather be President.

That is the opinion of Edward McKim, former special administrative assistant to President Truman, who has been spending a couple of months resting in Carmel and playing golf with some of his old friends who live here.

"Don't worry about the chief executive cracking up physically," said the genial Mr. McKim, who is also vice-president of the Mutual Benefit Health and Accident Association of Omaha. "No man takes better care of himself than the president."

"Every afternoon at 4 o'clock, a tough old army sergeant, an old friend of the president, goes to the gymnasium with him and they work out on a mat for about 30 minutes, and I mean they really work out. Truman can take it and he has to. Then the president is given a good rub-down and he takes a swim in the pool, generally doing about 200 yards without stopping. After the plunge he takes a shower and dresses, goes to his office in the White House, picks up some papers he wants to work on and goes to Blair House, where he is now living while the White House is being remodeled, and may work well up to midnight."

"Truman is a glutton for work," said McKim, "Never saw anyone like him. I was in Battery D. with him in the first World War and we have been very close friends ever since. All of those in Battery D. have been his pals. He is a loyal friend. He loves to be president and he could go on for three more terms, I believe, as far as his health is concerned. He'll never crack up under the strain of the load he carries. Some people talk of Truman as a little man. He stands 5 feet 9 inches, and weighs 180, which is not exactly a midget. He is always physically fit. I traveled with him when he made his campaign for the vice-presidency and again when he was candidate for president, and no amount of speech-making or other work worries him. He has the ability to relax and forget everything whenever he wants to. That's why he always gets a good night's sleep and is fit and ready for work in the morning. He is in just as good shape today as when he was senator. He always will be until old age catches up with him, which may not be until he is 90."

"Truman's hobbies?" he said in answer to a question.

"Well, Harry likes nothing better than a ten-cent limit poker game with congenial friends. In fact, a game of that sort was unavoidably delayed the night he was sworn in as president when F.D.R. died."

"We had arranged our little weekly poker party at one of the downtown hotels and I was at the hotel arranging for the party, the suite being mine, when the news of President Roosevelt's death was flashed on the radio. I knew nothing about it until some of the guests arrived and told me they thought Truman might be delayed a little."

"I'll say he was delayed. Right at that minute he was being sworn in as president of the United States...and that was one little ten-cent limit, penny ante game that my old captain of World War I days missed. Don't let anyone tell you he is not a smart poker player."

"Are you sure he will run for a third term?" I asked.

"Now don't quote me," said the genial Mr. McKim, a former football star at Rockhurst College, Kansas City, Mo. "I said he would be physically fit to run if he cared to. I do not know whether he will run or not. Personally I am inclined to think he will, but that is a long way off to talk about now. Too many things can happen in the meantime."

"I might correct an impression some people have that Truman is too soft about Russia. Don't you believe it. Harry doesn't say much, but he'll 'bow his neck' as they say in Missouri, when the time comes, and he'll be plenty tough. He believes in America and he is not going to take anything off of Stalin or anyone else."

SALES LECTURES AT PACIFIC GROVE

The Monterey Peninsula Chamber of Commerce, in cooperation with the Pacific Grove Adult School and the California State Department of Education, are offering a series of lectures on salesmanship each Tuesday night at Holman's Solarium, Pacific Grove, at 7:30 p.m.

These lectures are designed to bring practical up-to-the-minute sales information to sales people and executives. The lecturer for the series is Dr. Joseph D. Blacow, professor of psychology and head of the Business Department at the Monterey Peninsula College, formerly Supervisor, Business Education, Stanford University.

Carmel business people are invited to attend these lectures, which should prove very interesting to them inasmuch as they are contemplating a similar course for this Spring. There is no charge for attending any or all of these meetings.

COMSTOCK Sells Carmel Landmark

It was about 25 years ago that Hugh and Mayotta Comstock started building a residence at the corner of Sixth and Torres in Carmel. Perhaps not even they knew what an influence their home was to have on the design of other Carmel houses.

Built much by their own hands, it introduced novel textures which were later to make their home a landmark in Carmel. They mixed plaster with pine needles and applied it to burlap; they used hand-hewn beams and woodwork; they laid sand mold brick floors in the kitchen and dining room; they later built an addition that was the first use of the now famous post adobe construction; they surrounded their home with ferns and shrubbery from the hills nearby, and added a patio and barbecue outdoors.

Mr. Comstock, builder, lavished all of his personal care in the continuous improvement of the house and tried out many of his new ideas in its construction. As a residence, it has been visited by thousands of people in past years.

This week, after Mr. Comstock had been thinking for some time that he had instilled the maximum of his ideas into the home, he sold it to Betty Hodgson, of Carmel.

Mr. Comstock is a builder who can't stop building. Now he plans a new home in Carmel Valley, which will incorporate the principles of design that he has developed through the years, and also introduce some new ideas.

He said this week that he neither liked parting with the house nor moving his residence out of Carmel, but he has wanted to improve his property in the valley for some time.

ANSWER TO THIS WEEK'S

WHO IS IT?

Mrs. Roderick Wilson, executive secretary of the Carmel Business Association, is featured in this week's "Who Is It?" Although she was born in San Francisco, Mrs. Wilson has counted herself a Carmelite since she was five years old, when her parents first moved here. Her mother, Mrs. Josephine Newmark, still resides in the village. Mrs. Wilson, who is 33 years old, attended Sunset School and Palo Alto High School, later majoring in social recreation work at the University of California, where she graduated in 1937. Married in 1938 to Roderick Wilson, who operates his own Monterey insurance business, she handles a tremendous correspondence for the CBA, and still finds time for her two children: Nicki, 7, and Sherry, 3. Although the local merchants' organization is known as Carmel Business Association, Mrs. Wilson reports that outsiders stubbornly persist in addressing their letters to the "Carmel Chamber of Commerce." Her husband had been associated with an insurance firm in San Francisco, but was stationed with the Naval Air Transport Service in Australia and Honolulu during the war. At that time his wife lived in Carmel. When he returned from service they decided to make the break for the village, both of them intent on enjoying life while they made a living. They go in for gardening, swimming and tennis, and head for the beach whenever time and the sun permit. Mrs. Wilson is on the PTA Board and is a former board member of Carmel Girl Scouts. She thinks Carmel is wonderful for children, typifying the "simplified living" she prefers.

RED, WHITE AND BLUE
PLANS SILVER TEA

Plans for a public Silver Tea on Tuesday, March 14, at Holman's Solarium, Pacific Grove, were made during a meeting last week of the Red, White and Blue Club. The Friday meeting was under the supervision of Mrs. Lola Etheridge.

Mrs. Mary Compton, assisted by Mrs. Mary Deitle and Mrs. Irma Remley, is in charge of the tea, at which there will be entertainment. Mrs. Lucille Ambrogie is chairman of decorations and Mrs. Ollie McDannel is program chairman.

Present at last week's meeting were Mrs. Pearl Triplett, Mrs. Clara Laughery, Mrs. Mary Compton, Mrs. Margaret Albertson, Mrs. Lola Etheridge, Mrs. Ollie McDannel, Mrs. Blanche Brian, Mrs. Bertha Lake, Mrs. Katie Goyonovich, Mrs. Bessie Edgerton, Mrs. Irma Golden, Mrs. Clarissa Cooper, Mrs. Elizabeth Jameson, Mrs. Catherine Shepard, Mrs. Maggie Sargent, Honorary Member Mrs. Anne Nichols and one visitor, Mrs. Martha Bruner.

The next regular meeting will be held Friday, March 17, with Mrs. Edgerton and Mrs. Laughery as hostesses.

board, established in 1879.

Louis R. Lurie, well-known builder, is chairman and finance director of the committee which will direct the campaign.

Mr. Reilly was first elected to the office in 1938 and has been chairman of the five-man board for the past six months.

His statement follows:

"Since 1938 it has been my privilege to serve as First District member of the State Board of Equalization, representing the seven central coast counties of San Francisco, San Mateo, Santa Clara, Santa Cruz, San Benito, Monterey and San Luis Obispo.

"Today I wish to announce myself as candidate for re-election to that office.

"I will submit my candidacy, as in the past, to the people of both political parties.

"If elected, I will continue to toil unceasingly to administer the First District office without favoritism, but with integrity, courage and intelligence. I will continue to represent the citizens and taxpayers with the same honesty of purpose, faithfulness to trust, and devotion to sworn duty that have governed all my 12 years of public service as your board member.

"It is worthy of notice that the Board of Equalization collects approximately 65 percent of the revenue which finances our California government. These collections, received principally from the sales tax and the gasoline and truck taxes, deposit more than 300 million dollars annually in the State General Fund and are the chief support of the public school system which is the fund's first obligation.

"As your board member, during a period which has been attended by unusual complexities, I have consistently labored to keep governmental expenses at a minimum within my department, to end waste and extravagance and have fought for equal justice for all and against special privilege. In every way I have striven for efficient and honest government."

Her husband, Captain Henry W. Forester, will be remembered as one of the polo group who played here so often a number of years ago. He has flown to England in order to cast his ballot in the recent election.

COLDEN WHITMAN
WEDS BETTY TAVES
IN LONG BEACH

Colden O. Whitman, son of the Paul Whitmans, of Pebble Beach, took Betty Lee Taves as his bride Saturday, during eight o'clock rites performed by the Rev. Augustus Martyr, of All Saints Episcopal Church, in Long Beach.

The church was decorated with ivy and white camellias and white flowers and candelabras were on the altar. More than 200 guests witnessed the ceremony and attended the reception at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fritz Taves.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, chose a gown fashioned in bouffant of white marquisette with a handkerchief skirt, tight fitting bodice, short sleeves and an embroidered peter pan collar. She wore matching mitts. A tiny cap of the same embroidery held her finger tip veil in place and she carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley and baby hyacinths.

Cynthia Taves was her sister's maid-of-honor and another sister, Lynda Taves, was a bridesmaid, as was Ellen Grave, of Couer d'Alene, Idaho, Mrs. Edward Keeley, of Carmel, and Janet Wilkenson, of Long Beach. The attendants wore white organdy over green taffeta with green sashes. They carried bouquets of ivy and white camellias and wore circlets of ivy and camellias in their hair.

The groom's only brother, Paul, served as best man, and ushers included Warner Johnston, Ward Dexter Holt, Harold Dasbach and Lt. Comdr. Jack Paretsky.

The bride's mother chose a gown of beige lace and crepe and a matching lace hat. Pinned to her bag were small green and brown orchids.

Mrs. Whitman wore a gown of heather blue crepe with matching hat and accessories and pinned on a corsage of pink cymbidium orchids.

Following a wedding trip to an undisclosed destination the newlyweds will make their home in Carmel, where Colden is in business.

The bride, a graduate of Mills College, took graduate work at Western Reserve in Cleveland. Colden is a graduate of Carmel Schools and studied art in St. Louis. Following 42 months in the Army, most of which was spent overseas, Colden opened a studio in Carmel.

LOREN HILLMAN

NDGW WEEKEND ACTIVITIES

Native Daughters of the Golden West enjoyed a weekend of activities when Grand President Miss Henrietta Toothake, of San Francisco, came here for the initiation of new members to the peninsula chapter. A dinner in honor of the grand president was held Saturday night at Casa Munras, while initiation of members was held at Masonic Hall, Monterey.

On Sunday morning, Clyde and Elmarie Dyke, of Pacific Grove, gave a breakfast at Casa Munras for present and past officers of the group. Members took picnic lunches Sunday on a bus trip to the Mission San Antonio de Padua near Jolon. The tour was arranged by History and Landmark Chairman Amelia Kneass.

Want to Save a Life?

You watch men, women, children being carried from a burning building . . . or

You are riding across country . . . and suddenly you are in a strange hospital . . . crowded with the maimed and dying victims of a wreck . . . or

A surgeon is performing a major operation on your own small child . . . racing against heartbeats that grow fainter with each passing second.

What is needed most . . . needed quickly . . . needed desperately? Blood.

But, many times, there isn't enough blood available to everyone, everywhere, who needs

it. That is why the goal of your Red Cross is to help make blood available to everyone, everywhere, who needs it.

More than thirty regional Red Cross Blood Programs now supply hospitals in areas having a total of more than 40,000,000 population. But there are nearly four times that many people in this country. We want to do more . . . to help more people . . . but we can't do it without your help.

Won't you give it? Money as well as blood is needed. The dollars you give now to your Red Cross can help save a life.

councilman for four years and a member of the Planning Commission, feels that civic operation of the village is unique in the United States and, in line with this, he offers the following qualifications as required of a Carmel councilman:

1. He must have a deep love for Carmel and faith in its traditions and way of life.

2. He must realize that changes are inevitable, that their needs must be met painlessly and in answer to the wishes of the people.

What Mr. Craig would like to see in the Carmel resident is an active interest in civic affairs. Those people who have retired to their "ivory towers" in Carmel cannot be aware of what goes on about them, he commented, thus allowing special interest minorities to gain civic control.

Mr. Craig, who is running for his second term of office, said two terms are enough for one man. He has a strong conviction that voters grow too dependent upon men with governmental experience.

"In a small town, it is conceivable that every tenth person could have held office at one time or another," he said. "This would be ideal, furnishing a high proportion of voters who would have a real understanding of the city's problems."

What about Mr. Craig?

Well, briefly, he is a native Californian, a teacher at Carmel High School, a graduate of St. Mary's College with a Master's degree from University of California, a married man and an ex-commander of a torpedo boat squadron, with World War II experience that earned him the Navy Cross.

Born 40 years ago in San Francisco, he attended St. Mary's on an athletic scholarship and was an honor student, majoring in history and Spanish. He married the former Mary Eaton, of San Francisco, in 1935, during his first teaching job at Marysville, and later was an instructor at Porterville Junior College. Mr. Craig is a "plank owner" at Carmel High School, coming here when it opened in 1940. He teaches Spanish, history and sociology, and is assistant football coach; also faculty member in charge of the school annual.

Entering the Navy during the war, a lieutenant junior grade, he was released to inactive duty three years later as a lieutenant commander, having served in the Mediterranean actions off Southern France and Italy, Lingayen Gulf in the Philippines, and at Okinawa. As a squadron commander in the Pacific, he was in charge of 600 men; as a division commander in the invasion of Southern Europe, he skippered a "hot" boat, which accounted for a German destroyer, five German supply barges (and as many probables), an ammunition ship, and had running battles with German E Boats that escorted supply craft to Anzio.

Mr. Craig, who operated in a theater that extended from Marseille to the mouth of the Tiber River, says he "spent a lot of time on the beautiful Riviera" -- at night, when he and his crew couldn't see a thing. They also provided entrance to enemy territory for American spies and brought commandos ashore in Southern France who silenced the guns before the first assault waves hit the beach. During one period his boat was out every night for a month, seeing action each time.

The Navy Cross was an inevitable result.

When he returned to Carmel following the war, Mr. Craig was asked to run for the Carmel City Council. He was elected in 1946 and named fire commissioner as well as council representative to the City Planning Commission.

As a councilman, Mr. Craig is proud that during the past four years the city promoted Mayor Fred Godwin's idea for a Carmel Youth Center. The closing off of Del Mar Avenue was another step forward, he feels. (To readers who have never heard of Del Mar Avenue: It is a strip of beach that extends south from the parking circle at the bottom of Ocean Avenue. The city has returned the undeveloped strip to the Carmel people, assuring that homes will not be constructed right up on the sand.)

Mr. Craig extends sincere praise to Carmel's efficient fire department, which is made up of volunteers. To Frank Hefling, who pioneered the mutual fire aid agreements with surrounding communities, he also pays tribute. (Mr. Craig helped advance this idea.)

"The Carmel Fire Department has an enviable record in California," he said, "with only two major fires in 20 years."

The reasons for this he enumerates as follows: (1) Periodical practice sessions and inspections of known fire hazards; (2) Rewriting of regulations governing places such as Sunset School auditorium; (3) Raising of water pressure in lower part of Carmel and installation of new water lines (Mr. Craig reports that more fire hydrants are needed in new parts of the city); (4) The devotion to duty of the men on the local fire-fighting force.

Mr. Craig says he is well aware of the current problems that face Carmel. His aim is to further the ideas that will do the most good for the most people, although he knows that any governmental action may at times tread on the toes of certain people or their neighbors.

cast their shadows before.

You may be healthy NOW... To see how you will be in the future make this simple test: Strip to the waist before a large mirror and observe the following:

1. Does your head incline to the right or left?
2. Do you have a hump at the back of the neck?
3. Is one shoulder lower than the other?
4. Is one shoulder drawn forward?
5. Does one shoulder blade protrude?
6. Is one hip higher than the other?
7. Does one hip swing further forward than the other?
8. Is the navel off center?
9. Is your abdomen larger than your chest?

If you answer "yes" to any one of these questions, you have a structural distortion, the forerunner of a serious HEALTH PROBLEM. I CAN help you.

I've been hearing a lot about this fellow they call LINOLEUM LUKE. He's supposed to be pretty smart when it comes to floor-covering. Well, let me tell YOU... when it comes to a downright intelligent "know-how" about floor-coverings... there just isn't ANYBODY that can beat BILL COYLE!!!

THAT is the reason they call the professor SMART!

Successful Investors Need

Wide Diversification

Diversification means distribution among many different securities. It has been responsible for the successful operation of insurance companies and savings banks for generations.

Diversification of risk protects the investor against the possibility that his selection of an individual security may be a poor one. It also insures continuous income.

Today even the smallest investor can obtain as wide diversification as the millionaire - by using...

for public use and enjoyment for all time. The National Park Service is, of course, deeply interested in the preservation of shore and beach. There is no scenic and recreational resource in the United States more sorely in need of preservation. There is only so much of it, and there never will be more, and very rapidly the finest of our seacoasts are being pre-empted or their beauty destroyed.

The face of America is rapidly being changed for the worse through commercialism and unplanned development. Not only the national parks but many other types of reservations established by the states and communities are necessary, if our heritage of scenic beauty and recreational opportunity is to be preserved. More power to you in your campaign.

Sincerely yours,

NEWTON DRURY

CARMEL RIVIERA

YANKEE POINT ACRES . . . the exclusive subdivision on the gorgeous CARMEL RIVIERA is NOW OPEN! For home sites see your broker. YANKEE POINT ACRES is the property of CARMEL RIVIERA, CHARLES G. SAWYER, Mgr., Carmel, California.

This Week We SALUTE:PHILIP WILSON, JR.

...WHO SOLD LOT NUMBER 20 IN YANKEE POINT ACRES, ON THE CARMEL RIVIERA, TO MR. AND MRS. DAVID RUST, OF SAN LEANDRO, CALIF. (MR. RUST IS PRESIDENT OF THE RY-LOCK CO.) Phil was born in Southwest Texas on a cattle ranch, but has lived in Carmel since 1905, when his family first moved here. The Wilsons purchased a home opposite where Sunset School is now located, but later moved to Carmel Point where Phil Wilson, Sr., developed the Carmel Golf Course, the second course on the peninsula. A graduate of Monterey Union High School, Phil served overseas with the artillery in World War I. He comes from a pioneer Carmel real estate family, now occupying the same office that his father had at the Northwest corner of Ocean and Dolores. Phil has extensive real estate holdings in Carmel and Carmel Valley, and owns, with his wife, Marion, the White Oak Inn in the valley. Although he is a grandfather twice over, Phil is a very active real estate broker. He feels that Yankee Point Acres offer wonderful residential sites.
